Burrows has escaped.

The posse of 150 men have given up the fight.

If the railroad, the government and the ex press companies want first, taley then close and army, surround the state, then close in on him and even then, if every man is not of undoubted courage, he and his pai, Jackson, will whip out the army. He has not run away like the average fugitive from justice, but has simply defied and laughed at the sheriff, the detectives and bloodhounds and the posse, and simply walked leisurely off over Sand mountain and gone in a westerly direc-tion, in all probability heading for his home in

Lamar county, where he has innumerable friends who will keep him in hiding and fight for him

if necessary. His cool bravery and defiant manner before a posse of 150 men, all armed to the teeth and protected by bloodhounds, marks him as the most daring and fearless

"This won't do, boys," he yelled as he hustled Wimpeelout of the crowd. "Let me handle him," he said, and in a few seconds he had Wimpee on his borse and started him for home. Wimpee was not slow about going either. The party then got together for a consultation, but nebody seemed to know anything except where Burrews was last night, and about the direction he had taken.

"Well, he's twenty miles from here, boys," said Captain Sharp, "and I'm going to give it up." "I reckon that's about the best and only thing we can do," said Sheriff Morris.

ACWORTH, Ga., October 29.—[Special.]—
After an illness of two weeks, Captain Smith Lemon quietly breathed his last at 7:30 this evening, surrounded by quite a number of relatives and friends. While all that could possibly be done by loving, tender hands and medical aid was done, he never rallied from the first attack. He was the most prominent, and probably the most successful business man in this section. He leaves a wife and three children. We was sixty-eight years of age. The funeral will take place from the Presbyterian church Probably at 10 o'clock Thursday motning.

will print an litterview with him tomorrow, in answer to the recent interview of Mr. T. Watson, McGregor's attorney. Mr. Davis says among other things:

"I am in full possession of all the facts in the case. I have read Mr. Cody's statement several times in the preparation of the defence in the case against him. Besides these, I was in full possession of his confidence, and he made many which he intended to incorporate in his written statement before it was made in court. I have also seen Mr. Watson's interview, purporting to be Major McGregor's answer to Mr. Cody's statement is regret that it should have been thought uccessary to sustain the character of the lady in question against any insunation from Mr. Cody or his friends. I turther regret that the matter has attracted so much attention, and that so much is being said about it, when it can avail so little. I desire to say, however, for Mr. Cody for the reason that he can not speak for himself, and for the further reason that I, as one of his counsel, having full possession of his confidence and secrets, deem it my duly to speak; that his statement does not contain one word that was meant to reflect upon the lady whose name has been brought into this deplorable affair, nor did I ever hear Mr. Cody in the conversations I had with him, either friendly or professionally, reflect in any way upon her character. On the contraty, I have heard him say that he believed her one of the purest and best of women, and I desire to add my personal indorsement to this opinion of Mr. Cody respecting her. I am a citizen of Warrenton, and I know her; and I know she possesses to the fullest degree the condidence and esteem of the town and county. Her character is irreproachable, and I had not deemed that it needed defense. Had Mr. Cody not believed her innocent and pure, and one of the best of women, find on the would not have attempted as he did, though under a mistaken idea of chivalry, to protect her from what he regarded a dangerous friendship. than he is of them. After taking supper he and Jackson quietly walked out. The old man did not know where they went. It is now believed that they took a southwesterly direction. So much for Rube Burrows and his pal, Jackson.

At daylight this morning I rode out to Snead's mill, in the heart of the mountains, and in the center of the roughest and most sparsely inhabited portion of Alabama. I found the posset wenty miles from here, and this is the nearest railroad point. The three blood hounds that came up on a special train from Birmingham last night were there, and with the noted bloodhound "Grover" were engaged in trying to trace the outlaws. There were exceeding one hundred and fifty men there, each and every one armed to the teeth. They were divided in two posses, one the Birmingham crowd, armed with Winckesters, who came in yesterday, commanded by Captain Sharp, and the other countrymen under Sheriff Morris. Captain Sharp had charge of the dogs, and, although they would yelp occasionally, he said the trail was so cold it was impossible for them to follow. While the crowd was discussing the best thing to do a long, tall, lank sort of fellow came.

Mr. Jep Cody, the brother of the dead man, was also in the city, and a conference was held in Judge Twigg's office. Mr. Cody furnishes a card for publication, in which he also ansists that his brother's statement made no charges against the lady, and that the only person who has ever dared to columnat her is Major Charles E. A HOWL FROM RHODE ISLAND.

An Appeal to the President to Override State Lines. NEWPORT, R. I., October 29 .- The Observer NEWPORT, R. I., October 29.—The Observer tomorrow will print the following letter, which has been sent to President Harrison:

"Newport, October 25, 1889.—To Hon, Benjamin Harrison, President of the United States: Honored Sir: We approach you with the full consciousness upon us of the respect that is due you as our caller magistrate, and with a complete desire to manifest the same. A public meeting of clizens of the city of Newport, state of Rhode Island, was held in our statehouse on the 17th inst. The chief magistrate of the city presided, Many of our distinguished citizens were present. It was an overflowing meeting; it was unanimous and enthusiastic, All party predilections, all sectarian differences, all lines referring to nationality, color or racs were for the occasion laid aside. Its members only saw humanity brutally outraged, the government being undermined and law being trampled upon. It was called to protest against the wholesale and unrestrained mardering of innocent American citizens by the thousands, now going on in some of the sates of the south; it was convened to protest against the deprival in these states of life, liberly and property without due process of law.

Honored sir, the undersigned were appointed by the meeting to correspond with you to the end of having a stop put to this dangerous violation of law; this demoralizing example; this deep iniquity. Allow us to submit to your favorable consideration (sent here with a report of the meeting clipped from one of our leading daily papers). We do not regard it within our province to debate, but you will not, we are sure, feel it as being indecorous in us to gofer to the fact that in unrestrained violation of the supreme law of the land, even by small part of a state cannot be regarded with indifference by those sworn to see the laws of the land respected; that if that part of those who constitute a state are left free to do within bounds what the whole is by law inhibited from doing, the whole, it may be logally assumed, are tactify actors tomorrow will print the following letter, which has been sent to President Harrison: "Mat, ain't you a little oxcited? Are you sure you seed Rube Burrows and his pal?"

It was only six miles to the branch below Walnut Grove, and the party was soon there. Wimpee went to the front and pointed out the exact place where the men crossed. Then Captain Sharp loosed the dogs, and in an instant they were off through the swamp at a lively pace. The entire party followed, expecting to run upon the outlaws every moment, but the dogs swang around after running a mile and run up on a man who was in that neighborhood. The dogs were called off and carried through the woods for hours, but struck no trail. Then the men who had doubted Wimpee's story at first were mad. A dozen of them told Wimpee he had lied, but he didn't show fight. The party then returned to Walnut Grove, every man growing madder and madder with every step. When they reached Walnut Grove Wimpee showed that he had some money on his person. Then the assertion was freely made by men who knew Wimpee that he was in collusion with the outlaws, and that they paid him to come down from his mountain home, near where they spent last night, and lead the party off on another track. Many of the party seemed to believe this, as Wimpee is known to be a worthless sort of a fellow without any money, and in a moment the crowd commenced to surround him. The

WILL BEGGS TELL THE WHOLE STORY? The Evidence in the Cronin Murder Trial Yesterday—Officers of the Clan on the Witness Stand—Other Notes.

CHICAGO, October 29.—A local paper says: "The attorneys for the prosecution determined last night, after a good deal of consideration, to take up the subject of Patrick O'Sullivan's business card for the purpose of proving that the particular form the stranger offered Cronin had been printed only two days before the doctor was murdered. Attorneys for the pros-ecution believe this to be the strongest evidence they have against O'Sullivan, not even excepting the testimony of the Carlsons, who saw him in daily communication with the murderers who occupied the cottage on Ashland avenue. Besides this testimony it is the intention of the lawyers to introduce new evidence sustaining the belief that the conspiracy in Camp twenty, with Dr. Cronin's death, as a result, existed. Upward of thirty young Irishmen, all of them members of the notorious camp, were in the state's attorney's office last night, and every one of them tessi-

At the opening of Judge McConnell's court this morning, Mrs. Winifred Dinan, wife of Patrick Dinan, the livery man who owns the famous white horse took the stand as a wit-ness. Burke, Coughlan and other defendants were members, was next placed on the stand.
O'Connor was recording secretary of the camp when Beggs was senior guardian. After numerous details as to meetings and methods of transacting business, the witness testified that on February 8th last, at a meeting at the camp, Thomas F. O'Connor asked if we had ever heard the report of the trial committee that tried what is known as the triangle.
Beggs said he had not.
O'Connor said it was strange our camp never got the report when he heard it read in another camp in the city, and he would state the name of the camp and the man who read it if we demanded it. Then some one asked who it was. I did not hear who he said read it, but there was some member there who did hear and I asked him "What did you say?" and I understood him to say, Dr. Cronin.
The state's attorney was evidently of opinion that the witness was an unwilling one and sought to have him detail at greater length the proceedings of the camp, but without success.
Witness said he had no recollection that a the order.

After a long wrangle between the lawyers, the court admitted the record of proceedings of Camp No. 20 on February 8th, made by the witness at the time, and he proceeded to read it, subject to many interruptions in the way of questions and objections. Generally, in referring to individual members of the camp, numbers, instead of names, were used, and in one case in which it was noted that certain numbers were appointed a committee numbers, instead of names, were used, and in one case in which it was noted that certain numbers were appointed a committee to investigate the qualifications of an applicant for membership, the state's attorney said he proposed to show that one of them was the number borne by one of the prisoners at the bar.

Coming down to the matter of the camp's action on the supposed allegations against Cronin in connection with the trial of the triangle in Buffalo, witness read as follows:

Moved and seconded that an imperative demand be made upon the executive committee at once for immediate information of the trial committee. It was amended that the senior guardian notify the district members of the report that is going around, regarding the report of the trial committee, right in one of the camps in this city. The motion was carried. A motion was made and seconded that a secret committee of three be appointed by the senior guardian to investigate the rumors afiont regarding the trial of the executive body. Motion carried.

The senior guardian mentioned, witness said, was John F. Beggs, one of the men now on trial. An effort was made to show by witness that there was a consultation between himself and Michael J. Kelly, A. J. Ford and P. H. Nolan about the advisability of destroying the books of the camp, but the defense objected and the court sustained the objection.

The cross-examination of witness was then begun. Witness further testified that when Captain O'Connor moved for the appointment of a committee to investigate the report that the report of the trial committee had been read in another camp, the senior guardian, Beggs, said the camp had no power to investigate another camp and that the proper thing to do was to refer the matter to a district officer. Witness had no knowledge as to whether or not the committee to investigate the other camp was ever appointed.

His Othello is, apart from certain mannerisms without which James would not be James, was a strong piece of acting and was well received. Hearty applause greeted his reading of some of the stronger passages, and several curtain calls came in the course of the evening.

"I feel sure it will. No man has the experience of Mr. Pain, and certainly none have larger resources and facilities."
"I think it will beat any display everseen in the south, but we don't talk much, watch the display."

"What are some of your main features?"

"We will give a naval battle in fire, as was done Thursday night; we will, however, present only; three ships but they will be great ones, and each one discharging cascades of shells and rockets. We will have a fountain forty feet in diameter, with a center plece of dolphins raised high in air, and cascades of gold and silver water thirty feet high. In shells we will show something marvelous, Mr. Pain has brought his sixteen-inch mortars for the first time out of the clip of New York. These are twice the size of the largest mortars used Thursday night. You may rest assured that our display will be a revelation to the people in brillioney and grandness."

THE SCHOOLS TO CLOSE. All the public schools will close on Thurs

doy in honor of veterans' day.

And thousands of children will go out to see the great exposition and extend their welcome to the veterans.

Thursday's programme is one that will be highly entertaining to the little ones as well as the older people, and every one of the seven thousand school children in Atlanta should go out to the grounds on that day.

A holiday could not be more pleasantly or A nonday could not be more pleasantly or profitably spent than in seeing the wonderful displays in the main building and machinery hall. Then, too, there are the chickens, the dogs and the seals, all of which are very interesting to the little ones.

The programme for Thursday is a great

REQUESTED TO CLOSE.

The following resolution was unanimously adopted at the meeting of the directors last night:
Resolved, That this board request all the railroad shops, factories, contractors and others to close Saturday at 11 o'clock, in order to give their employed an opportunity to attend the exposition on labor day, the closing of the exposition.

THE BABY SHOW.

Great interest is being taken in the baby show, and a large number of entries will be made. This is an interstate exposition, and not only Georgia, but all bables of the Piedmont district will be smitted. The stock of babies of 1889 will be shown up in great shape.

OPPOSED TO SCALPERS.

The following resolution was unanimously adopted by the board of directors of the Exposition company:

Resolved, That a committee be appointed to urge upon the legislature the passage of the bill now before that body to prevent the sale of scalped tickets, believing the same to be unfair to the railroads and detrimental to the public interest. A committee was appointed to appear before the committee and urge the adoption of this bill.

Exposition Dairy.

Exposition Dairy.

The great interest Georgia people are taking in the dairy business, has created a desire to know more of the improvements required in the manufacture of git-edge butter.

For the purpose of educating the farmers and giving practical illustrations to those interested, the exposition company erected a large building—twenty-eight by seventy-nine feet, with two editions eighteen by twenty-eight feet. This building, a description of which was given in The Constitution's exposition issue is devoted entirely to dairy and creamery apparatus, and supplied with the latest improvements, all especially adapted for use in the south where farmers have not the advantage of ice and cold water that the northern farmer has.

capecianty adapted gor use in the south where farmers have not the advantage of ice and cold water that the northern farmer has.

Here can be seen outfits varying from a single cow in capacity to four hundred cows, and is practically the same, but on a smaller scale, as those used in the large creameries of the north and west, where from five hundred to two thousand pounds of butter are made each day.

In this building are shown creameries for the separation of the cream from the milk while it is in a fresh, sweet state, making cream of a uniform quality. Systematic dairy work and uniformity of products being essential to complete success. The creameries combine a refrigerator with the milk compartment when they are used with ice.

The churns employed lin butter-making here are those operating on the concussion principle. The absence of all floats, lashers, paddles or agitators is a noticeable feature. These churns are shown in two styles—one troown as the barral churn which is hange on the concust of the products of the same of the program of the page of th

These churns are shown in two styles—one known as the barrel churn, which is hung on pivots at the side, and by a crank is turned end over end to preduce the concussion.

The other, and by most people considerable, is the Davis swing churn, which has an oscillating motion to produce the concussion. By either of these churns the butter comes in what is known as the cranular form. As soon

As soon as it assumes granules about the size of wheat kernels a strainer is inserted at an opening in the bottom and the milk drawn from the butter. Cold water is then introduced, not colder than lifty-four degrees, and all the buttermilk is washed from the butter, thus preventing its souring, which is in all cases due to the buttermilk contained in it. It is only necessary then to work in a sufficient amount of sait, which varies according to taste, from three-quarters of an ounce to one ounce to the pound.

A number of different kinds of butter printers are shown for printing butter, in pounds, of half pounds, as the market may require. Each is wrapped in a waterproof and air tight parchment, and placed in a shipping case provided with trays, arranged with trays one above the other, and having a chamber for ice to keep the contents cool during shipment. All this work is shown and willingly explained by L. L. Northrup, the man in charge. This exhibit is supplied from the manufactory of the Vermont Farm Machine company, of Bellows Falls, Vermont, who are the largest manufacturers in the world of creemery apparatus. In addition to the appliances described, are shown several kinds of butter workers, which are in extensive use among dairymen. Also scales, ladles, paddles, spades, packers, tryers, tub-fasteneners, butter-colers and various kinds of milk-testing instruments. One end of the building is occupied by several hundered packages of different kinds. ranging in capacity from one to fifty pounds each. In one corner of the room is an exhibit of the well-known Higgins Eureka Dairy Salt, from London. On theiopposite side is the mammoth pyramid of salt exhibited by Mr. C. H. Houghton, of the Gonessee Salt company, N. Y.

The dairy building has recently had an addition to its attractions of two large full cream cheese, something selden seen in this dition to its attractions of two large full cream cheese, something seldom seen in this part of the country.

The exhibits of butter from the different sections competing for the premium of one hundred dollars have already begun to arrive. Samples of butter as made from the cows on the grounds is shown under glass in cases ready for shipment. It is also shown in glass globes in the granular form, in the condition that it is taken from the churn.

Several very interesting contests have been entered into by dairymen from different states, known as the seven-day milk contests, to determine what cow shall receive the twenty-five dollar award as the best milk cow exhibited on the ground, the butter contest to decide which cow shall carry off the twenty-five dollar premium as the best butter cow; also the contest between cows of any breed that shall yield the greatest amount of butter in twenty-four hours. Besides the above sums, three hundred dollars is to be divided among the owners of the three largest butter yielders.

No part of the exposition is more thoroughly investigated by those interested. It is attractive to every visitor, and among the most distinguished for a number of days past has been James P. DePass, director of the Florida State Experimental station. He has given it hit most careful attention. The exposition should congratulate itself upon having the largest exhibit of dairy apparatus ever placed on exhibition by one firm. Any of our readers who desirg information regarding dairy matters may call upon the party in charge who will cheerfully give it.

Mr. Oliver also asked for information us to the manner in which he should keep a rec.rd of the poli taxes he collected. Compiroller Wright had learned of the robbery

Comptroller Wright had learned of the robbery through the columns of THE CONSTITUTION before receiving Mr. Oliver's letter. He was at a loss, however, to account for the money being in the hands of the tax collector or his clerk, as the law requires that the money first collected should be paid over to the county school commissioner to be distributed among the teachers. He thought that perhaps Judge Hook had not yet forwarded his draft to the Pike county school commissioner. On inquiry he learned, however, that this had been done on the 19th of November.

Captain Kell was employed yesterday in dis-Captain Kell was employed yesterday in distributing 150 stands of arms, recently received from the federal government, among the militia of Georgia. The guns were 45 caliber Strangfield rifles. If the state can show one hundred enlisted men for each representative at Wasnington they are empowered by law to draw something over $1,100 worth of military munitions each year.

Judge Hook yesterday issued forty odd permanent licenses to public schoolteachers thro ghout the state. The number of applications for these licenses, he says, is constantly increasing.

Judge Hook was very much pleased yesterday by receiving the following letter, which shows that the hard work he did in behalf of the Peabody scholars was appreciated:
"Your very able and satisfactory report as to Peabody institutes and disbursement of money came this morning. I regree exceedingly that it did not reach me in time for incorporation into our proceedings. Such a valuable document ought to have been placed in our permanent records. STRUCK HIM ON THE HEAD. The pole broke in half, and as Connor came nearer he hit him the fatal blow, crushing in the skull and felling him to the ground. The wounded man was carried to the home of his grandfather, Mr. John Mercer, and Drs. Bowie and Douglas were with him until 2 o'clock this morning, when he died. Beard was arrested and is now in the sheriff's hands in this place. Both of the parties are young the sad and unfortunate affair is regretted by all who know them.

There are various kinds of troubles in this life; some are greater and harder to bear than others. Most troubles are brought on ourselves, but not so in every case; some can be averted, others cannot Troubles that are mole hills to one are mountains to others. A great many people in this world take great delight in causing others trouble. It is almost impossible to depict these low down, miserable and nptible curs who are stigmas on the name of the devil himself. Take an old abominable and the devil himself. Take an old abominable and detestable tattler, who knows more about other people and their business than they know themselves, going around telling their miserable mechinations, not hesitating to add a few more damnable damning words, if they are needed, to make the story effective. How much better would it be if all would practice charity toward each other and cover up the many faults of their neighbor?

Among the greatest troubles to which fallen man is subject to is reach, disease, faller, Satula, etc.

is subject to, is rectal disease, (piles, fistula, etc.) sndsome are so often neglected because considered by many incurable. They can be cured, and I can do ft. My treatment for these is effectual and painting. less. No harsh measures are used, and you can be cured of these troubles without the torture formerly attending this treatment. Clarke county.

The testator appointed his two sons, Leonard and Jacob Phinizy, of Augusta, as his executors. It is understood that the will will be proved in solemn form at the December term of the ordinary's court. Mr. Phinizy left very handsome bequests to Boggs chapel, Oconee Street church and Center church, in Oglethorpe county, on condition that these churches shall never have organs or any other musical instruments in the house. Saving these legacies, the estate is to be divided among the wife and children of the deceased. The estate as yet has not been appraised, but it will go considerably over a million.

How to Get Glasses.

When a person suspects or believes that his eyes may be benefitted by the use of glasses, the best thing for him to do is, to consult an oculist or optician, who possesses special knowledge and skill in fitting the eye. When glasses become cracked, or badly scratched they should be immediately tak in to the optician for repair, and not worn at the expense of strain or irritation of the eye. At Hawkes' optical depot you will find skilled professionals ready to repair your broken glasses or fit you with a pair of the famous "Hawkes' Crystalized Lenses." No charge for fitting. These wonderful glasses are not sold on the exposition grounds.

THE REMAINS FOUND. The Solution of the Disappearance of Mr. A.

J. Larkey.

MCRAE, Ga., October 29.—[Special.]—On the morning of the 6th of December, 1888, Mr. A. J. Larkey, of this county, parted with his family, who reside near Jacksonville, for the purpose of going on a business trip over on the east side of the Ocmulgee river, in Irwin county, with the expectation of returning that afternoon. Night came, next day also, but A. J. Larkey had not returned to his family, who were greatly alarmed by his absence. The mule and buggy which he drove were found on the other side of the river.

The neighborhood was alarmed, and friends searched and inquired for him, the river was dragged for days, and everything done that could be done to learn something of his whereabouts, but until last Wednesday no trace of Andrew Larkey had been found. While Messrs. John Tucker and Anderson Fussell were down in the swamp on the Irwin county side of the Ocmulgee river, and about two miles below Jacksonville, they found what remained of this unfortunate man. Only a few of his bones could be found, as is reasonable to suppose, as his body had decomposed and been eaten by fowls of the air. His clothing had nearly all been torn away and destroyed. His watch and two dollars in silver money were found in his clothing, which remained intact. His shoes were in good condition, and were identified by parties who were in a position to His shoes were in good condition, and were identified by parties who were in a position to know, while his watch had his name in it. MISCELLANEOUS.

A REMARKABLE STATEMENT FROM A WELL KNOWN CITIZEN OF SOUTH CAROLINA.

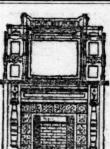

"Cancer is hereditary in my family, an aunt of each side having died from this dreadful disease. In each instance the cancer was located in identically the position that mine first made its appearance—just below the left eye and extending down the left cheek bone and nose. I was attended by the best physicians, but the case continued to grow worse under their treatment, and no hope of a cure could be given by them; they said: "I had better have my affairs for this life and the next arranged, for the cancer was liable to strike a vital organ at any moment, and at once bleed me to death. About this time, 1866, I met with Mr. Shirley, living near Due West, whose cancer was being rap idly cured by using Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) I then gave up the doctors and all medicines I had heretofore been using, and commenced taking S. S. S., and after using the third bottle, I discovered that the scab had fallen off, and that those sharp, darting pains, so characteristic of the cancer, had ceased, and the discharge was very profuse. In a few days it began to heal rapidly, and soon dried up. By the time I had exhausted the fifth bottle there was nothing left but the scar where the cancer had been and I was a well man. The cure effected in my case is considered by my neighbors a most remarkable one, and clearly demonstrates the fact that S. S. S. DOES CURE CANCER. Swift's Specific is a boon to suffering humanity, and all I ask is, that those afflicted with cancer give it a trial, and like myself will be convinced of its virtues."

An Interesting Thought

200,000 Organs.

200,000 Estey Organs. 200,000 Estey Organs have been manufactured. Think of it. Try and realize what it means. It s one crgan finished every week since Noah built the ark. Do you suppose it would be possible, with a sufficient number of men, to build a fine Reed Organ all compite in seven hours? No doubt it would, but it would certainly require a large force of skilled men to do it. Now, if the Estey Organ company had taken so long a time as seven hours they would have had to begun before Columbus discovered America in order to complete 208,000 organs in 1883. They have actually been building their famous

Reed Organs forty years, averaging about one organ in thirty-five minutes. And not building them only. They have sold them. No other organ can show such sales. What does it prove? Simply that the ESTEY Organ is the fa-vorite, that it is the best value for the money invested, that it has been the choice with the majority of persons who have purchased organs.

You can't make any mistake up choosing an ES-

TEY, for the great majority is with you. Go to the ESTEY Organ Co.'s ware-rooms, corner Marletta and Broad streets, Atlanta, Ga., and you can be suited in price and terms. sept 18—tt

A RARE CHANCE.

PARE CHANCE FOR A LOVELY SUBURBAN IN Home or Homes—As my business calls me elsowhere, and as I desire to pay every doliar, of my indebtedness before leaving Atlanta, I have very reluctantly deetded to sell my beautiful Edgewood home at once, either as a whole or subdivided portions thereof. I have had an expert engineer to carefully survey and plat the same, and will sell at a bargain, the most magnificent suburban lots in the south at a sacrifice. The property is my home place, near Atlanta, occupied this spring and summer by Mr. Hugh T. Inman and family, adjoining the lovely homes of Senator Colquitt, Major Tom Walker, P. H. Snook and others, and very near the justly celebrated Moreland Park Military school, it is immediately on the Fulton County Electric rail way, about 200 yards from Pendleton station, on the R. & D. R. R., and very near the Georgia R. R. and the Atlanta and Edgewood Electric railway. The place is a twelve-acre grove of native oak, hickory, elms and pines, interspersed with pecans five years old; also a lovely rose garden and grasile pit for hothouse plants. The grove is set in blue and orchard grass, and is gently rolling in every direction from the house. It is the highest point in Edgewood, overlooking the city of Atlanta, and is pronounced by everyone to be the ideal suburban home of Fulton county. A magnificent 60-600 well. of water through solid granite is on the place and sparkling springs in Copenhill park, 100 feet from the property. The house is a good, substantial country house, strong and solid, containing ten large and four small rooms, two large, wide balls, a deep granite wine ceilar and a cold storage ceilar, single or double closets in every drom and 300 feet of wide, massive veranda, with lovely views in every direction. The place as a whole cannot be duplicated in the south, and nature has so laid it off that it can be subdivided and built on so as loomake the whole a most beautiful residence perk and yet the distinct and separate home of a dozen or more families. This property must be solid immediately. Several lots already spoken for by unexceptional parties. No objectionable parties can buy a lot at any price. The electric raliway is about completed, and will in a few days be making regular trips. I will be giad to show the property at any time, and a note addressed to me care Talmadge house, Atlanta, or care Rosser & Carter, over Merchants' bank, Alabama street, will be promptly received, or telephone No. 1,232, three calls, at my residence. Don't procriptionate aday, but call and see this property before it is sold, for it is the chance of a lifetime to procure a home that you will never grow weary of, but will love more and more every day. THE CONSTITUTION. PUBLISHED DAILY, SUNDAY AND WEEKLY.

DAILY CONSTITUTION WIII be delivered to any address in the city at TWENTY CENTS PER WEEK.

THE SUNDAY CONSTITUTION SENT TO ANY ADDRESS.

ATLANTA, GA., OCTOBER 30, 1889.

Thursday at the Exposition. This week promises to be the biggest of the exposition. Nearly ten thousand people were on the grounds yesterday. It is really the best week to enjoy the exposition. Everything is in perfect working order, and the exposition can be more heartily enjoyed and studied to better advantage than ever

No Georgian who can afford to see this great show should miss it. Thursday is the last of the one cent days, and every man, woman and child who has not seen the great exposition carefully, should take advantage of that day and come to Atlanta and spend at least one day in sight seeing.

The fireworks on Thursday night will crown the day in a blaze of glory. Mr. Pain has literally exhausted the resources of his factories in Chicago and New York to make this exhibit surpass that given by his great rivals last Thursday night, and which has never been approached by any such exhibition in the south before. Make up your mind to come to Atlanta on Thursday on the one cent rate, and spend at least a day or two in seeing the greatest of southern expositions before it is dismantled, dismembered and dissolved.

Criticising Governor Hill.

Some of our northern contemporaries, especially those of the mugwump and republican variety, are very much disturbed over the recent visit of Governor Hill to Atlanta. One of them goes so far as to say that the visit of Governor Hill to the Piedmont exposition was in the nature of a bid for notoriety-part of an attempt to keep himself before the public.

Another newspaper declares that the visit is "a bid for the presidency," and Editor Elliot F. Shepard, true to the characterization of his father-in-law, has discovered in the affair a tremendous plot to bring about democratic success, or something of that

All of these wise utterances by the mugwumps and republicans proceed on the theory, if not the belief, that Governor Hill came to Atlanta on his own invitation, and that the entire programme, so far as he was concerned, was arranged by him or through his connivance. All this is just funny enough to give the public a vivid glimpse of the methods employed by some of the great aditorial lights of the north.

Every sensible person knows that Governor Hill had no idea of coming to Atlanta until he was invited by the directors of the Piedmont exposition, and he had the matter under consideration for some time before he concluded to accept. He had no more to do with the programme arranged for him than the man in the moon. His visit was political to this extent—that he was invited because he is a prominent democrat, and because he has been able to put the republican party to route in New York in the face of various adverse conditions. He was invited because he is an earnest and a success ful democrat, and because he is the governor of the great empire state of New York The criticisms made on him, unjust as they are, set forth one fact very happilynamely that he is a man whom the republi cans fear. Mr. Cleveland has been, and is still, roundly abused by the republicans, and this has been the fate of every prominent democrat since the days of Jefferson Let a democrat become prominent and popular, and he is at once made the target of shuse and unjust criticism.

We think Governor Hill is to be congratulated. He had a singularly pleasant journey, an enthusiastic reception from conthern democrats, and now the republicans and mugwumps are abusing him. What more could an honest American citi-thought and reflection to bring good results. The resolution of Senator Whitfield creating a commission composed of the three indges of the supreme court, and ex-Gov ernors Smith, McDaniel and Colquitt, with Major Campbell Wallace, who is an expert in railway matters, seems to meet the question fairly. If this board decides that the lessees are not entitled to anything that is to end the matter, and if it should decide that they are entitled to anything this commission is to say in what item and what amount. The proposition has at least the merit of doing ething to aid materially in making a new lease, and the makeup of the commission is such as to satisfy the most exacting that the state will be fully protected.

Mahone's last mistake was the arrest of the democratic judges of last year's election in Charlotte county. This strikes the peo-ple as a bull-dozing dodge, and its effect has been to arouse determined opposition. Naturally these intimidating methods

The whites flocked to his rescue, and several persons were injured in the melee. Doubtless a serious riot would have occurred if it had not been for the thoughtful conduct of an old gentleman who rushed out of his house with a shotgun. The sight of this weapon caused the negroes to disperse.

Violent outbreaks are expected in other localities, but the democrats will not be caught napping. Every effort will be made to enforce the law and preserve order, and if any of Mahone's followers try to precipitate a conflict they will be dealt with so promptly that they will have very little time for their evil work.

If the Virginians fight to the finish with their present resolute spirit they will give Mahoneism its death blow.

The State Road and the Lessees.

EDITORS CONSTITUTION: I see conflicting statements made by members of the general assem-bly in discussing the lease question, or what is now more popularly termed the betterments question, and it is probably important to a just settlement o ion that the facts be properly understood and I inquire for information.

I have seen it stated again and again that the lease act provides that the lessees are to return the road in as good condition as they received it from the state, and are to pay the rental of twenty-five thousand dollars per month within twenty days after the end of each month.

Now, Mr. Editor, I desire to know if these are substantially the obligations which the lessees as snmed when the lease was made.

I believe it is not denied by any one that the lessees have paid the rental promptly for nearly nine-teen years, and no doubt will do it until the end of the lease, which is now a little over one year. Something has been said in the legislative discussions about the company having announced its purpose to wreck the road, and it has been said that the governor should take steps to prevent the lessees running it down, etc.

Now, just what is meant by wrecking the do not know. If the state delivered the road to the do not know. It the state delivered the road to the lessees in its then condition, which is said to have been a very bad condition, and the state agreed to take it back, and the lessees agreed to deliver it back in the same condition in which it was received by them, how is that wrecking the road? It is either not wrecking the road, or else the road was already wrecked when the state delivered it to the lessees. If the state delivered it to the lessees in a very bad condition, and agreed to take it back in exactly the same bad condition, how can it be said that the lessees in delivering it back in the condition agreed to by them and the state are

condition agreed to by them and the stale are wrecking the road?

I do not understand that the lessess insist on betterments. They merely justst on their right to deliver the road to the state in the same condition in which they received it, which is in strict accordance with the contract. If this is wrecking the road, then they have both the legal and the moral right to wreck it. If the state agreed to take it back in that condition, the state is legally and morally bound to do so.

As I understand it, the lessess say to the state: If you will not take it back in the condition in which you received it, according to your contract, and will undertake to prevent us, the lessess, from putting it in the condition it was in when we received it prior to delivering it back to you, then the lessess ask you to pay for the improvements which you propose to take from them by force, and there they seem to be reasonable.

If you, the state, will not do this, then they propose, first, to allow the whole question to be left to five arbitrators of high character, two to be chosen by each party and the fifth by the other four, and both parties to ablde promptly by the judgment rendered by them. If the state will not do this, then the lessees propose to leave it to five arbitrators chosen by the state alone, provided that neither of continuation of the state will not do this, then the lessees propose to leave it to five arbitrators chosen by the state alone, provided that neither of them shall be personal enemies of any one of the lessees, the lessees in that case not to choose a single arbitrator. If the state refuses to do that, then the lessees as I understand it, ask that the state open her courts to them and let them sue as any other party having a claim against his neighbor would be permitted to sue his neighbor where they could not agree. This the state declines. Then if she will not do that, say the lessees, we ask that the state constitute or organize a tribunal to hear and determine this case according to law equity and natural justice, the lessees having no share whatever in the organization of the court.

cording to law equity and natural justice, the lessees saving no share whatever in the organization of the court.

If they refuse to do that, then the lessees say you may refer it to any tribunal that you think proper to name, and we will abide the result, or they say we will abide the result if you will pass Senator Whitfield's resolution, which proposes to leave the whole question to the three present judges of the supreme court of Georgia, towit; Hon. Logan E. Bleckley, Hon. Thomas J. Simmons and Hon. Mark Blandford, and the three democratic ex-governors of the siste, who are not interested in the contract, towit: Hon. James M. Smith, Hon. A. H. Colquitt and Hon. H. D. McDaniel, and that old veteran and prince of honorable men, Campbell Wakace, chairman of the railread commission of Georgia; in ether words, the lessees are willing to leave it to these seven distinguished Georgians, in whom the people of the state have again and again reposed the highest confidence, and agree to abide promptly and cheerfully by whatever they say. Now, will the state refuse one or all of these propositions?

Can the state afford to refuse to carry out her contract to receive the road back at the end of the lesses for betterments or improvements, and also refuse to submit the question to any of her courts or to any other tribunal proposed by the lessees that several of these tribunals be appointed by the state, and in most of them the lessees have nothing whatever to do with the appointments.

As the state claims to be sovereign and not lias ble to be sued in her courts without her contracts.

the lessees have nothing whatever to do with the appointments.

As the state claims to be sovereign and not lias ble to be sued in her couris without her consent, according to the weil established principles of the international law she must either constitute a court where a just claim as made against her can have a hearing, or she must do justice between the parties by appointing some commission to hear it, or by appointing some commission to hear it, or by appointing some distinguished officer to hear it. In other words, ahe must cither pay the claim or permit it to be litigated in some well organized and fairly constituted court. How then can the gate of Georgia rainse to other tain the claim of the issees, and at the same time yeaus to permit any court or any arbitration or any any one of the tribunals mentioned, the tessees with say no more about it, but will settle promptly with the state according to the terms of the contract. It the claim is found just, then every housest citizen of Georgia is obliged to say it is the duty of the state

Georgia is obliged to any it is successful to pay it.

Have I stated the case correctly? If not, wherein have I mistaken the law or the contract? How four the company wreck the road by reducing it to identically the same condition that it was in when it was turned over to the company, and how can the state refuse to take it back in the condition designate by her solemn contract? Will it satisfy the finance in the contract of the condition of the contract. turned over to the company, and how can the state refuse to take it back in the condition designated by her solemn contract? Will it satisfy the financial public for her to cry out that she cannot afford to have the read wrecked, and that she is unwilling to pay for the improvements? In other words, she avows her purpose of retaining the improvements by force without paying for them, thus putting the road in that much better condition than it was when she delivered it to the lessees, and in that much better condition than it was when she delivered it to the lessees, and in that much better condition than that agreed upon by her solemn contract as to its re-delivery.

She cannot stand before an intelligent public and occupy this position. She must either pay for the improvements, or she must receive the road back without them in accordance with her contract just in the condition it was without them when she delivered it to the lessees.

This is a business proposition, and the state must meet it on business principles, or her character for fair dealing and just settlements must be greatly tarulshed and her people must be mortified at her degradation.

Hall—The Bill Returned to the House Without Radical Change.

The senate has passed the lease bill in better shape than when it came from the house, but without radical change.

The two changes of most importance are these:

The time of consummating the lease con tract is made the 27th of October, 1890, instead of sixty days after the passage of the act. That will be six days before the next legislature

The basis of property to be turned over to the new lessees is made the inventory of 1872 instead of that of 1870. The inventory of 1872 is $200,000 larger.

There are many minor amendments put on as safeguards or to perfect the operation of the bill. One gives the lessees a hearing before the lease can be forfeited.

The Rartlett restrictive amendment, which caused most of the discussion, was rejected by a vote of 28 to 13. Senators Bartlett and J. W. Harris made a gallant fight for it, and Senatsr Shannon was loaded, but was cut off by the previous question.

The case against the amendment was ably presented by Senators Hall, Strother and Mas-

Senator Whitfield tried to get in amendment providing for the sale of the Western and Atlantic road's real estate in Chattanooga, which is not necessary to the transaction of railroad business. He proposed to exempt from the lease about $750,-000 worth of property, but the senate thought that it was to some extent necessary to the railroad's business, and declined to separate t. Senator Massengale opened his argument by saying that until recently he had thought of voting for the restrictive amendment, but since the defeat saying that until recently he had thought of voting for the restrictive amendment, but since the defeat of the Olive bill and after conferring with his constituents, who were opposed to putting any restriction on the competition for the lease of the Western and Atlantic railroad, he thought it his duty to vote for leasing it to the highest bidder.

"The state debt," he said, "is $8,870,000 in round numbers, and the interest on it is $480,000, and the rental of the road at $35,000, the minimum amount proposed is $487,000 a pear—which falls $12,000 short. If you open the bidding to the world and allow competing lines to come in you know it will be for the interest of Georgia. Every man and every child in the state is interested in this road. There is no doubt that we could receive more than the interest on the state debt. I am satisfied we could lease the road for $40,000 or more per month. There is no consideration so vital to the people of this commonweath. A good lease of this property means an education to the people, the children of the state. It is their property, it is the property mean and education to the people, the children of the state. It is their property, it is the property of every citizen, it is mine as much as that of any other man. If you or I had this property as a private estate, would we not attempted to lease it for the highest price we could get? I consider the Western and Atlantic railroad no more than the private property of individuals. It is nothing but justice that the property of the commonwealth should go to the highest bidder. A few days ago the senator from the 29th introduced a resolution for the sale of the old capitol. On the floor of the senate I advocated the giving of that to the confederote veterans who had fought for that it he property was not attempted to less nate I advocated the giving of that to the confederote veterans who had fought for that the property was not after the same of the old capitol. On the moor of the senate I advocated the giving of that to the confederate veterans who had fought for the liberties and rights of the people, but in its wisdom the senate saw fit to put that property to the highest bidder. That was as much the property of the people of Georgia as the Western and Atlautic railroad.

"We have a railroad coamission, sworn to support the constitution, who stand between the common people and the railroads, and if they cannot protect us we had better let them go, It matters not to whom we lease the road. The constitution cannot go beyond the limits of the state."

He then quoted facts and figures to sustain his position. He called attention to the fact that the rate per ton mile on the Louisville and Nashville railroad was only one cent and on the Georgie Pacific, in the control of the West Point Terminal, one cent per ton mile. He said railroads by combination were enabled to haul freight cheaper, and in support of this proposition he cited the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, which was able to haul freight for 63-100 of a cent per ton mile, while some short roads out of combination, like the Bangor and Portland, charged 6.71 cents per ton mile.

gument had a perceptible effect on the senate. The force of his argument was directed principally against the argument of Senator Harris, with occasional reaches after Senator Bartlett.

He began by saying that though Senator Harris and Senator Bartlett repeatedly exhorted the members of the senate to stand by their oaths and support the constitution, neither of them would kay and I have too much respect for their opinions as lawyors, to believe they would say that this clause of the constitution upon which the Olive bill is based, has any reference whatever to the state in disposing of its own property. In no wise does the constitution interfere with the action of the legislature in disposing of the state's property. What does that constitutional provision refer to? It inhibits, for instance, the legislature from authorizing the East Tennessee railroad from Atlanta to Macon, from buying a majority of stock in the Central, which is a competing line. It inhibits the Central from buying a majority of stock in the East Tennessee, which is a competing line.

There is not a lawyer who has been at the bar five years, and is capable of conducting a justice court case to a successful conclusion, who will take the position that this provision of the constitution is applicable to the state when it deals with its own property. Now, tell me, how can the senators violate their oaths by voting against this restriction?

"The senator from the forty-second said yesterday that senators had been converted. How? And from what unto what were they converted. I would ask the honorable senator from the forty-second. If any man entertained the view that the constitution of the state prevented him from voting against this restriction, and he has changed from that view he has come from darkness into light; he has been converted from folly to common sense. That is a kind of conversion 1 would like to see going on at all times, when we come to deal with the business matters of the state. Now then, if the constitutional inhibition is not i

Senator Hall said it did, but that could not apply to the state's property, the Western and Atlantic railroad. The East Tennessee could not legally ease or control the Central from Atlanta to Macon, because it was a competing line, but if the state road was to be leased the East Teunessee charter or the constitutional provision did not apply to prerent.

sensor Bartleit asked if Mr. Pat Calhoun had not testified before a legislative committee that the East Tennessee had abandoned that charter because of its inhibition against leasing or controlling a competing line. Senator Hall said he did not know, it might be so, but that did not alter the question.

Referring to the West Point Terminal company Senator Hall said he did not know, it might be so, but that did not alter the question.

Referring to the West Point Terminal company he said it had control of railroads in Georgia but could not any man go on the stock market and get control of roads it he had money enough. The senator from the forty-second had said that there were nine roads coming into Atlanta, and the West Point Terminal controlled all of them but the Western and Atlantic railroad. That had been held up as the palladium of the liberties of Georgia. What is to prevent the West Point Terminal to go into the stock market and buy a controlling interest in the Louisville and Nashville or the Cincinnati Southern?

to make terms with the West Point Terminal at this and and western connections at Chattaneoga. The Western and Atlantic railroad cannot live an hour without connections north and south. If the lessees made terms with the West Point Terminal at Atlanta they would own it just as much as if they had bought it by getting a traffic arrangement with the lessees. If the lessees did not do this the road would be choked in no time and the lessees would throw it back on the state's hands. So at lest it must make terms with the would exclude from bidding any one who owned stock in a competing line or in the West Point Terminal. This, he said, would shut out the only class of men who were capable of forming a company to bid.

He said the state had in her own experience an illustration of what this restrictive policy would do. In 1879 the legislature passed abilit to sell the Macon and Brunswick railroad, and put on it restrictions, providing that the purchaser should build the road to Ailants and that no railroad in Georgia should be the purchaser. What was the result? The minimum price was $1,100,000, and there was a man in Macon prepared to pay $2,500,000 for the road, but he was prevented by the resolution. The road was sold, and in a few days it was sold to the East Tennessee, at a profit of four millions. That money went into the pockets of the very gentlemen the sanator from the 42th was inveighing against so eloquently. That is the result of your policy of restriction, shown by an instance that is fresh in the minds of every senator.

"But why should we shut out all but foreign cor-

I would like to know how a senator can say he has discharged his duty and promoted the best interest of the state by legislation which drives Georgia corporations from competing with foreigh corporations.

ions."

Senator Shannon asked if the West Point Ter-ninal was a Georgia corporation.

Senator Harris replied that to say "West Point Ter Sennor naris replied that to say west rout for minal" had the same effect upon the senator from the 21st (Shannon) that shaking a red rag had upon a mad buil. Though controlled by the West Point Terminal, the Central, the Georgia and the East Tennessee railroads preserved their autonomy, and either of them could lease the State road. They either of them could lease the State road. They were all Georgia corporations.

Senator Bartlett asked if it was not a fact that the West Point Terminal had a guarantee from the Central Trust company in New York that the stock hypothecated should be voted so as to secure the policy it dictated.

Senator Hail replied that if the senator himself any portective another by voter so as to secure the policy it dictated.

Senator Hail reviled that if the senator himself owned a majority of the stock in a railroad, and he wished he was rich enough to own a majority of the West Point Terminal stock, he would certainly dictate the policy of the road over which he had control. He thought the unrestricted lease would bring at least $5,00 more than the minimum and that for thirty years would make a difference of $1,800,000.

As to through freights he said a monopoly in Georgia was impossible. He asked if the senators on the other side knew that a bushel of grain can be brought from Chicago to New York over the competing trunk lines, then youth by ocean steamer to Savannah for 25 cents a hundred or a little over 12% cents a bushel, from there to be distributed over the various local roads in Grorgia. There is where the competition is and will be as long as there is a north and south. Do you want to do anything that will cripple these southern roads in carrying on this warfare that now exists between them and the roads in the north that carry freight from the west to the Atlantic ocean? The Louisville and Nashville and the Western and Atlantic railroads are in a grand trunk line and for that reason are able to compete with the northern roads.

He said the idea thas competition had reduced rates on the Western and Atlantic railroad was a mistake. He had figures from the secretary of the Southern Railway and Steamship association showing what the rates were on the Western and Atlantic railroad was a mistake. He had figures from the secretary of the Southern Railway and Steamship association showing what the rates were on the Western and Atlantic railroad was a mistake. He had figures from the secretary of the Southern Railway and Steamship association showing what the rates were on the Western and Atlantic railroad was a mistake. He had figures from the Secretary of the Southern Railway and Steamship association showing what the rates were on the Western and Atlantic know why rates are higher than they were before the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia railroad was built is, that before there was but one road to be supported; now there are two roads with their officers and employes to be supported on the traffic was formerly given to one."

"They do a cut throat business for awhile," said Senator Hall, "but they soon quit that and establish living rates, and living rates for two roads are higher than living rates for one.

He said the senators from the forty-second and the twenty-second had reiterated the statement and rolled it as a sweet morse! under their longues that the rates of freight per ton mile were only 98-100 of a cent on the Western and Atlantic railroad, where there was competition with the East Tennessee, while they were 1.68 on the Georgia and 1.94 and 2.08 on the Central.

That was the average rate on all classes of freight, the low classes and the high classes. It was well known that the Western and Atlantic railroad hauled largely a low class freight made up of western produce like grain an hay, and the rate being lower on low-class goods reduced the average rate, while the Central and Georgia roads hauled largely cotton and dry goods and other high-class goods, on which the rate being higher made up of western produced the average and complete in the rate being lower on low-class goods and other high-class goods, on which the rate being higher made the average ligh. If a farm reame to town with a lot of cotton, nearly all middling or low middling and very few bales of stains or "dog stail," he would get a low average price, thou-th for the same grades the two farmers were paid the saine. The cases were exactly analogofus, and it was easy to see that on two railroads the average rate per ton-mile would be lowest on the one carrying the most low class goods, hough for the same classes of goods the rate per ton-mile was exactly the same. This showed why there was a higher average of the per ton-mile on the Central, Georgia, and other roads than on the Cen rate roads each with its own government dome what it wanted on a through rate. Now under system the pro rates were regulated and the rate reduced from Ohio river points to Atlan sellowers.

Before 1880..... In conclusion, he referred to what had bee about the foxes hunting their holes if Ro-ert Toombs were here. He thought that great man, if he had listened to the argument of the sanators from the 42d and 22d, would curl-his lip in soon, as was his wort, and utter the exclamation he so often used, "bosh!"

Afternoon Session. Senator Whitfield addressed the earnestly in support of his amendment, and exhibited a map. He said a great deal had been said about economy in dealing with the state's property, and now he proposed to put the matter to the test. He a prealed to senators to adopt an amendment which would separate $750,000 worth of property on which the sidetracks are now located, between the which the sideradas are now located, between the passenger and the freight depot, "tronting 86s feet on Market and 200 feet deep on Nintu street." Senator Bartlett, who had offered a similar amendment, accepted the Whitfield amendment and supported it. Senators Hall and Wooten were amendment, accepted the whiteid amendment and supported it. Senators Hall and Wooten were willing to sell surplus property, but thought it could not well be dispensed with. The amendment was lost.

Senator Harris sprang the question on the Bartlett amendment again by an amendment inserting the word 'logal' after the word 'bidder.' Senator Whitfield supported it in a short speech, in which he said the amendment appealed to the conscience of the senate and in a measure reopened the whole question of restriction.

Senator Bartieit's speech was something of a sensation. He said the opposition had resorted to the previous question and were seeking protection behind that. The senat r from the 26th had referred to lobbyists in favor of restriction. He thought it in bad grace for such a statement to come from that side when it was known that since 187 the capitol had never swarmed with lobbyists as it now does with lobbyists at work for those who would defeat the anti-monopoly clause of the donstitution.

Senator Rice got in an amendment preventing the removal of the State road shops from the state. After other minor amendments the substitute was adopted and the bill came up on its passage. Senator Harris gracefully yielded to the wisdom of the renate and voted for the bill. Senators Whitfield and Shannon said they could not conscientiously under their view of the constitution vote for the bill. It passed at 4:22 p, m. by a vote of St. 10 9 as follows: vote for the bill. It passed at 4:22 p, m. by a vote of 31 to 9 as follows:

The senate then took up the calendar and spent about a half hour before dark.

A Breeze About the Lunatic Asylum.
There was a breeze over Senator Gibson's motion to recommit to the committee on the lunatic asylum the bill to reconstitute the board of trustees of the lunatic asylum. It came from the general judiciary committee with an adverse report and Senator Whiffield moved, as a substitute for Senator Gibson's motion, to agree to the adverse report. He and President studies for the bill, saying it attacked an institution above suspicion and it would impair its workings for it to depend on non resident trustees. Senator Gibbs also opposed the bill and it was lost. The motion to immediately transmit was declared earried.

PICTURES IN FIRE

for Those Who Attend.

Things are red hot and heating. Mr. Charles Thorn has just returned from New York, where he has been for two weeks preparing the great Unexcelled fireworks as hibit for Saturday night. He said:

"The championship contest for fireworks a the Piedmont exposition is exciting as interest in New York as in Atlanta. Every fireworks man in the country is discussing it.

Long telegrams describing the Detviller Street display of Thursday night were in New York by eight o'clock the next morning, and Pain & Sons, the Englishmen, were st every nerve to beat it. A fireworks man to the Unexcelled factory and wanted two does en Japanese bombs, of which they control the American right. It was discovered that they wanted them for Pain & Sons' Atlanta disc and the Unexcelled refused to sell them. It is agreed that the competition which has now become a matter of national interest, has made the fireworks men give the Piedmont errorition for $10,000 what they could not buy for $30,000, if there was not a gold medal back of it. As to the Une-celled display, which will be fired Saturday night, the head people say is is by all odds the richest and finest display ever shipped from the factory."

WHAT THE LITTLE ENGLISHMAN SATE Mr. Henry Pain is a typical Englishman Ha ays very little, and when he has said it, seem to regret having said anything. He ha but one answer about the great display of Thursday night-"If money and an experience of eighteen years can beat it I am going to beat it." That ain't much, but it means a great deal. The name of Pain has been the most prominent in pyrotechnics the world over for a dozen years and Mr. Pain does not propose to be beaten without such a stuggle as will give to the public the best fireworks ever seen,

THE PROGRESS OF TWO YEARS. People who saw the fire elepants, and horse in fire, and the fire gymnast on a fire pole two years ago and thought it wonderful, cannot comprehend the advance made since that time. On last Thursday night a full navel battle was displayed in fire. A dozen ship were perfectly outlined and shaded in the most brilliant colors, rested on a sea of fire and from each ship was discharged showered vari-colored bombs and shells giving indescribable beauty to the scene. Another piece was a fountain sixty feet across the lower bowl. with a smaller bowl twenty feet in dian upheld by an exquisite figure well outlined in the most brilliant colors of fire. From each of the bowls ascended silver and golden showers to the height of twenty feet another piece was pres in immense cluster of flowers about forty feet square. As these were burning their share changed and the whole piece was transposed into a forest of birds surmounted by a tren dous golden owl with .. ings of fire outstretched,

All these marvels will be repeated or an ceeded in Thursday night or Saturday night's display, and those who do not see them will simply miss the sight of a lifetime.

TO INCREASE THE TAX.

SUCH A BILL, BY JUDGE HARRELL, PASSED THE HOUSE YESTERDAY.

The Dog Law Killed Again-A Minority Report That Means Something—That Trip to Savannah Pleasantly Anticipated.

The state tax is to be increased. Judge Harrell, of Webster, chairman of the rays and means committe, introduced the bill.

It passed the house yesterday.

It is, from its caption, to be "an act to mend the tax act for the years 1889 and 1890."

The bill provides that the taxes for 1890 shall increased three-tenths of one mill. The nal bill provided that the taxes for 1890 ald be two and four-tenths of one per cent, mended the taxes will now be two and n-tenths of one per cent.

This bill it to meet a deficit in the treasury. The appopriations of this session of the reasury about $175,000.

The above bill will raise about $100,000 leaving a residue of the deficit to be supplied from other sources, viz.: the sale of the old capter of the sources.

The other Macon and Birmingham fight—in reference to the road going through the town of Greenville, in Meriwe her county, comes up in the house this morning. The Georgia, Alabama and Florida Charter

The Georgia, Alabama and Florida Charter.

There was considerable discussion in the house yesterday over the Georgia, Alabama and Florida charter. The house had previously amended the bill to charter by providing that the road should not parallel the Bainbridge, Cuthbert and Western within ten miles—except, as usual, within ten miles of each terminus.

The senate refused to agree to this amendment. Mr. Trauer, of Muscogee, moved that the house seedle from its amendment.

Mr. Trauer, of Muscogee, moved that the house recede from its amendment.

Mr. Harrell, of Decatur, moved that the house insist on its amendment.

The charter was opposed or at least the amendment was argued for—on the ground that the two roads would go through lifemically the same territory, and that the object of those favoring the G. v. and F. charter was not really to build a new road but discourage, and if possible, to prevent the building of the other road.

The B. C. and W., now being constructed, gives an outlet to the guifty way of Albany. It is of great value to the people of that southwestern section, and they are afraid the G., A. and F. charter will kill tunless the amendment is inserted.

Mr. Tigner won the day, however, and the house recaded from its amendment by a vote of 64 to 61.

The Dog Law Again. The bill by Mr. McDaniel, of Carroll, enti-tled an act to protect the sheep raising industries of the state, came up again yesterday.

the state, came up again yesterday.

The bill was voted upon once and lost.

Then it was reconsidered.

Mr. McDantel, the author of the measure, made a strong speech in favor of its passage.

McIver, of Liberty, followed in a quaint—but sensible—speech opposing the bill. Once before McIver spoke on the bill, and that time on the other side. The vote was 72 to 50.

Not having the requisite constitutional majority, the bill was lost.

The Lease Bill. The lease bill is now in the house again.

The lease of its how in the hotel again.

It's a substitute.

Three hundred copies were ordered printed yesterday and the bill was made the special order for Thursday—tomorrow.

A strong Report.

Thursday—tomorrow.

A Strong Report.

A majorsty report—A minority report.

They cause in vesterday on the bill by Mr. Lewis, of Hancock, declaring it a felony to remove any of the Western and Atlantic realty—side tracks—or to carry any of the property outside the state.

The bill was reported favorably by a majority of the general judiciary committee.

This following minority report was submitted:

While this bill is general in its terms, it is conceded to be in its application intended alone for the lesses of the Western and Atlantic railroad.

A minority of your committee are unwilling to admit that the just and sovereign state of Georgia can approach the solution of a business contract with such a spirit of arbitrary power; enacting a harsh and territying law to coerce a tenant bona fide claiming certain property and contract rights, with a new made criminal law, framed in advance to meet the very claim of the lessee. Nor can the committee for a moment admit that when lie state twenty years ago agreed that the road should be returned in a sgood condition as it was when received by the lessees, it can now with honor to itself or fairness to its citizens, enact that it the road is not returned in a better condition the officers thereof shall be confined in a felon's cell. This is an effort by criminal cuactment to engand a new condition upon her sofemn contract of twenty years ago.

If the lessees have the right to return the prop-condition upon her solemn contract of twenty years ago.

If the lessees have the right to return the property in condition they received it in, and the contract says they shall so return it, then it is gross injustice to threa en the lesses with confinement in the penitentary from two to ten years for complying with the plain terms of the contract.

return it, then it is gross injustice to threa en the lesses with confinement in the penitentiary from two to ten years for complying with the plain terms of the contract.

If they have no such right, then no such act as this is necessary, for the law that is good enough between ordinary landlord and tenant, the write of justice, the coercive power of courts, and the restraining power of a curt of equity are ample to profect every right of the state if promptly enforced. Most of the rolling stock is confessedly not the stace's. If it belongs to the lessees they can do with it as any other owner of property, and the state has no more right to make it a crime to remove it or sell it than to make it criminal to remove horses or mules by one farmer from one county to another.

The act makes an artificial crime, and fixes an arbitrary venue for its trial. The constitution of Georgia says that crimes shall be tried in the county where committed. This act says in the county where committed. This act says in the county where committed. This act says in the county where a certain advertisement is inserted in a newspaper. The state has refused to open the door of her own courts to the lesses to hear their claim. She has declines a capital name the judges thereof; she declines all, and shuts her ears and refuses to consider at all the claims of these lesses. At this last hour, I-oking over this goodly road, seeing it in magnificent condition, and realizing that the lessees are only required to return it in as good condition as it was in 1870 and rearing that the tenant will seek to exercise his contract right, this bill say, it nestate, in the majority of her power, siali say: If any act is done to reduce the road to lie condition in 1870 the officers thereof shall be dedard criminals and made to wear the felon's stripes. If the state intends to take "vi et armis" the property of the lessees she ought, at least, permit the lessees to keep whatever of good character they may posses. Let us not wantonly inflict this stigma be eaten steaming hot with perfect impunity.

RECEIPT.—One quart of flour; thoroughly mix with it three teaspoons of Royal Baking Powder and a small teaspoon of salt; rub in a piece of butter or lard the size of an egg, and then add one large potato, grated in the flour; after the butter is well mixed, stir in milk and knead to the consistency of soft biscuit dough; break off pieces of dough large enough to close over four quarters of an apple (or other fruit as desired) without rolling, and lay in an earthen dish (or steamer) and steam until the fruit is tender. Bake if preferred.

In all receipts calling for cream of tartar and soda, substitute Royal Baking Powder. Less trouble, never fails, makes more appetizing and wholesome food and is more economical. Royal Baking Powder is specially made for use in the preparation of the finest and most delicate cookery.

CLOTHING.

FETZER & PHARR,

CORRECT CLOTHING.

The largely increased at tendance and generous buy ing in the Men's and Boy's Overcoats during recent days indicates attentive reading of our remarks on the subject. The only request we make is, wanting Overcoats you will come here. Most of you trust and believe in us for them. Sales prove that. Why shouldn't you? Not a stylish kind we ought to have that you will here fail to see. Fineness of cloth, correctness of shape, perfection of fit, rightness of work and lowness of price are the main points that popularize these goods.

If we've won your confidence in overcoats, all the more reason why we deserve your Suit patronage. Just now our stock is entitled to big-broad advertising statements. Can't stop to classify or make proper distinctions. We'll be general; treat the large size and small size, the gay and sombre sorts as one, for in many ways they preserve the unities. It doesn't follow that bewith a tape-line that the clothes are predestined to A. Rosenfeld & Son, please. Only one in a thousan catch your in dividual peculiarities and produce a Suit that's right. It takes an artist to do this. They are rare. Why hazard comfort? NEW YORK STOCKS.

Stocks as Reported at the New York Stock Exchange.

New York, October 29 .- The stock market today was active in spots, but the general list was quiet to dull, and foverishness marked dealings from the opening to the close, while coal stocks and trusts were weak, and Vanderbilt's Union Pacific and specialties were strong, all within narrow lim its. Selling was done principally by traders, though a few week stocks were objects of bear attacks. There was considerable support to the market from the coveridg of shorts, aided by some little purchas ing by commission houses. The market was narrow and uninteresting throughout. Sugar refineries took up a great extra amount of attention, and sell-ing of stock was heavy after the opening—only 1/20 lower at 69%, rapidly receded to 67%, and after a material recovery from the lowest prices extended to 3 per cent and closed strong at 70%. Cotton oil was strong when sugar was weak, and when sugar was strong and in the last hour was sold down to 41 against 42% at the opening. Coal stocks were a weak spot in the regular list and per-sistent efforts were made to get Reading and Lackawanna down, with considerable success in the There was a notable support of Reading by interes in that stock for a long time. Pressure on the list in the last hour, accompanying decided weaknes in cotton oil, made rather a heavy close

Final changes are irregular, but in most cases in the direction of higher prices, though while sugar declined 1½ and Denver, Texas and Fort Worth 1 per cent; cotton oil down 11/4 and Northern Pacific

In this market futures opened firm at 2 points advance, gained 2 points additional, part of which was lost under heavy receipts and sales to realize. The liquidation in October continues, the trading in this month being near 10,000 bales, There seemed to be considerable for sale, which kept the market Irregular and teverish. The extremes were 10,85 and 10.72. How much of an interest remains can hardly be told, but October was at times weaker than the other months, and there were some ready sellers. The day's business has been fair with sales of 80,000 bales, closing steady a little below the highest price of the day. Spots are nominal at 10% for middling bales, closing steady a little below the highest price of the day. Spots are nominal at 10% of or middling with sales of 377 bales. Closed closed steady; sales 46,800 bales. NEW YORK, October 29.-The Sun's cotton review says: Cotton futures opened firmer. Liverpool came unexpectedly strong in options, though spo was dull, and there were reports of severe weather on the Gulf coast. An early advance of 2 points was the result, but there was hardly any demand except for October and November, these two months being under the corner influence. Nevertheless limited offerings led to a furthertadyance.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Features of the Speculative Movement in Grain and Provisions CHICAGO, October 29 .- The market opened du'll and easy, was steady for awhile, and later became more active and weak, at declining figures. Barly trades were about ½c under closing figures of yes-terday, held until nearly 11 o'clock within ½c range, but after that broke off 16% 16, with 16 reaction later, and the closing figures were 1/2 lower for December at 1 1/2 lower for May than yesterday. The receipts from the northwest continue large, aggregating at Minneapolis and Duluth 885 cars, aggregating at Minneapolis and Duluth 886 cars, with 2,000 reported on the track, and at Minneapolis a mederate speculative and fair shipping business was transacted in oorn, with feeling quite strong early in the session, but as the day advanced an easier tone was manifested and the early strength was not maintained. The speculative market opened firm at 1,60% above closing prices of yesterday, influenced some by small receipts, was steady for a time, but later offerings were largely due to weakness in wheat and the bright clearing weather, became quiet and closed a shade lower than yesterday.

IN AND ABOUT ATLANTA.

I FORTUNE MADE OFF AN OSTRICH

Mr. Frank Hoffman the Californian who is an old southern bey, and eight years ago was well known in Atlanta. He came out of the confederate army a poor boy and went to hard work. Talking to a friend at the Markham astnight he said:

astnight he said:
"Does ostrich farming pay? Well, yes.
When I went to California some ten years ago
I had only a few thousand dollars, and I had made that by hard work. Now I'm well

I had only a few thousand dollars, and I had made that by hard work. Now I'm well fred."

"How did you get into the ostrich business?"

"An accident. Do you know accidents have made me? If you don't, listen. Soon after I struck 'Frisco I saw an advertisement. I was walking along the street, stumped my toe, and in gathering myself together glanced at the bill board it was on. It stated that a half dozen birds just in, consigned to a man who died after ordering them, would be sold. I went to the sale with no thought of buying, and just because they went cheap I bought them. I owned a place near Santa Anna and took them there, and today I have a farm full. They are easily kept and the feathers are valuable. Then besides that they always draw well and make a feature at any show. The six I have here are rigned for an engagement which will keep them away from California for twelve months. These birds, except one, are all South African birds, and came from the Transvaal, where Rider Haggard locates so many stories."

Mr. Hoffman owns a beautiful little theater in San Francisco, the Peoples, on Market street, which he built with proceeds from his rich farm and show.

COMING TO SHOW GETTYSBURG. A Man Writes for a License and Deputy Clerk Maddox Indicates the Change. Mr. Charley Maddox was handed a postal card yesterday addressed to Mayor Glenn. Upon the addressed side the mayor had written:

"Charley, fix this yourself." On the other side of the card was an inquiry as to the license tax for the cyclorama of the battle of Gettysburg.

Mr. Muddox read the card, and then said:

Mr. Maddox read the card, and then said:

"Now, if that was a cyclorama of the second, or even the first, battle of Manassa, I'd write that fellow to come on and show for mothing, that we didn't charge any license."

Then after a short pause he continued:

"Or if I knew that it was a faithful picture of Gettysburg I'd do the same, but I'll bet a dollar that his cyclorama presents a square yankee victory and shows our boys in full run—that's the way all yankee pictures show us."

Then, after another pause, he went on:

"I think I'll write to him and tell him to come on. Then, when I see his machine I'll fax the license. If he's got it right I'll make it cheap. If he's got us whipping 'em, like we did, he can get it for nothing; but if he's got us whipped, why—weil, he'll pay to give that show, or Jumbo Hunter will know why."

VIEWING THE DEAD SQUAW.

fundreds of People Go to the Undertaker's to Look at the Dead Woman. The Indian squaw who died three weeks ago In her tent at the Peidmont park, is still resting in her coffir at Swift & Co.'s undertaking rooms on her coffir at Swift & Co.'s undertaking rooms on her coffir at Swift & Co.'s undertaking rooms on Loyd street.

Hundreds of people have been there to see her.

Lahes and chi drea go every day and look at the Indian woman whose sprift has been in the happy hunting grounds nearly a month. Something, curlosity or not, appears to draw them and not a single day has passed since her death without at least a dozen lady visitors, many of whom bring fresh flowers for the coffin.

The husband of the woman calls every day, and it is only during his visits that ladtes and children are denied admission. The old Indian seems unable to undersand why the face and form do not change, and for the two and three hours he is present be sits beside the coffin looking intently into his dead wife's lace. He places his hand upon her cheeks and brow, as though testing them, and, stooping down, kisses the cold lips. At first he would sit beside the body and with one arm thrown over the coffin, moan and ery, but recently he has become quiet.

The woman looks as natural today as she did the day of her death, and will remain so, so thorough was the embalming. The body will be kept by Mr. Swit until the Indians start for their reservation.

STRICKEN WITH APOPLEXY.

Mr. Bob Denham Found Dying at His Farm Near Westview. Bob Denham was found in a dying condition at his farm near Westview Monday evening. Friends brought him to his home, and last night at a late hour he was doing as well as could be expeted.

Mr. Denham was a member of the police force & a long time, and after that the accepted a position with the Western and Atlantic railroad. He was employed as a watchman on the road at the time that he was atlacked, and a number of the employes assisted him to his home.

Mr. Denham has a large family who are dependent on him for a support.

His death would be a sad calamity to those who know and love him.

Lizzie Evans, "Our Angel."

Lizzie Evans, "Our Angel."

The popular little comedian, Lizzie Evans, will delight her audience at DeGive's opera house next Friday night in her highly successful comedy drams, "Our Angel." This play is from the pen of Ed J. Swartz of the Philadelphia Evening Telegraph, author of "The Governess" and other successful contedies.

"Our Angel." has a consistent, well developed plot, strongly drawn characters, and is replete with stirring situations and breezy humor. As "Blossom Jennings," the angel, Miss Evans has full scope to display that wonderful magnetism and vitality for which this charming little actress is noted. At the matines asturday afternoon a double bill will be presented viz: The charming operatta, "The Ring and the Keener," and the new comedy. "Fine Feathers." Saturday night Miss Evans will appear in a new play called "Moss Roses," a pure farce comedy from the German, alt fun and no sentiment.

of.

The ultimatum of the Norman's life work was the establishment of an empire, that has survived the mutation of eight hundred years.

Dr. Scott's lecture will be delivered next Thurss day night, and it is safe to say that the large andlence present will be delighted with the story of 'The Norman Conquest," and with Dr. Armstrong's spirited recitation of "The Conquored Bans ner," and "The Charge of the Light Brigade."

B. B. (Botanie Blood Balm.) If you try this remedy you will say as many others have said, that it is the BEST blood purifiel and tonic. Write Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, Ga., for book of convincing testimony.

J. P. Davis, Atlanta, Ga. (West End), writes "I consider the B. B. B. has permanently cured me of theumatism and sciatica."

R. R. Saulter, Athens, Ga., says: "R. B. B. cured me of an ulcer that had resisted all other treatment, E.G. Tinsley, Columbiana, Ala., writes: "My mother and sister had ulcerated sore throat and scrofula, B. B. B. cured them."

Jacob P. Sponeler, Newnan, Ga., writes: "B. B. B. entirely cured me of rheumatism in my shoul-tera. I used six bottles." Chas. Reinhardt, No. 2026 Fountain street, Baltimore, Md., writes: "I suffered with bleeding piles two years, and am glad to say that one bottle of B, B, B, cured me." J. J. Hardy, Toccoa, Ga., writes: "B. B. B. is a quick cure for catarrh. Three bottles cured me, had been troubled several years."

A. Spink, Atlanta, Ga., says: "One bottle of B. B. completely cured my child of eczema." W. A. Pepper, Fredonia, Ala., writes: "B. B. B. Cured my mother of ulcerated sore throat." 1w

A PIKE COUNTY PREACHER AND HIS STORY.

He Tells of an Attack and of Being Bobb of Seventeen Hundred Dollars-A Detective Thinks He Robbed Himself.

There is a preacher locked up at the station house ase is a very peculiar one, and has created a g sensation in Pike county. Rev. Edwin D. Matthews is a man about forty years of age, who has lived near Milner, in Pike county, for many years, without a stain on his character.

When Mr. C. D. Oliver was elected tax collector of Pike county, he employed Mr. Matthews as his clerk, and the two visited the various precincts in the county and collected large sums of monay. Matthews received a percentage on all the collections, and insisted on being paid as the monay was collected. On last Thursday night he and Mr. Oliver sat down together and counted the receipts for the week, amounting to $1,799.53. Matthews retained all but fifty dollars of the money, giving Mr. Oliver a receipt for it. The fifty dollars consisted of thirty all but fifty dollars of the money, giving Mr. Oliver receipt for it. The fifty dollars consisted of thirty dollars in greenbacks and twenty in silver, that they agreed to take out with them when they should start out on Monday. The $1,700 was placed in a large pocketbook, along with a ten-dollar script, and Matthews placed in it his pocket, with a smaller purse containing the $50 in change.

pocket, with a smaller purse containing the $50 in change.

Matthews says that on Friday night a negro and a white man came to his house, five miles from Miner, and asked him to go with them to the store and let them have some cheese and crackers. When they arrived there he claims that they sat upon him, and while one of them began cutting him the other robbed him of the large pocketbook, containing the $1.700.

As an evidence of the struggle he exhibits cuts in his pantaloons and his coat and vest. Where his trousers were slashed there is a slight wound on the left leg, just above the knee; and there is another wound on the left heast.

Mr. Oliver heard of the alleged robbery, and he called on Matthews, who produced the small purse with the small change, and the large pocket book with the serip and some receipts in it.

Mr. Oliver suspected that there was something wrong about the story, and he employed Detective Shackleford to work up the case.

Detective Shackleford went down to Pike county Sundsy and began to investigate the case. He thought he had reason to believe that Matthews was the guilty party. He went to his home yesterday morning to arrest Matthews, and the latter ran inside his dwelling, pulled down the window blinds and swore that he would kill the first man who come inside.

Detective Shackleford secured the services of two and swore that he would kill the first man who come inside.

Detective Shackleford secured the services of two men, kicked the door open and covering Matthews with his pistol, demanded his surrender. Matthews submitted, and explained his conduct by saying that he thought the detectives were whitecaps, who he heard were coming to whip him. The house and premises were searched, but mone of the money was found.

Matthews's bond was assessed at $3,500, and he was brought yesterday morning to Atlanta for safe keeping until his committal trait, which will occur at Milner, on Saturday next.

Yesterday evening Matthews exhibited the cuts in his clothing, which he said he had not had seewed up because his wife was unable to attend to them.

to them.

When he was arrested Detective Shackleford found a long, ugly looking dirk under his bed which he evidently intended to use, but was prevented by the watchfulness of the detectives.

Ms J. J. Dufffy, 75 Peachtree Street.—
Dear Sir: It gives me very great pleasure to say that your "Superlative" flour was used in making the cake which took the first prize, $10, offered by Mr. Lovan, for best cake made with C. O. P. lard, two good articles combined, which I heartily recommend. With best wishes and the assurance that Duffy and his "Superlative" flour will always give satis faction, I remain, Very respectfully,

CLARA WATKINS.

J. J. DUFFY, Esq., City—Dear Sir: Please accept my thanks for the inclosed $25 premium just received, award for your flour. It is the best I have ever worked, and in fact, the easiest, as also the whitest. Altogether it gave me more than satisfaction by its more than uniform results. Again please accept my thanks.

Respectfully yours, etc.,

CUTICURA REMEDIES.

AnAwfulSoreLimb

Cured by Cuticura.

For three years I was almost crippled with an swful sore leg from my knee down to my ankle; the skin was entirely gone, and the flesh was one mass of disease. Some physicians pronounced it incurable. It had diminished about one-third the size of the other, and I was in a hopeless condition, After trying all kinds of remedies and spending hunareds of dollars, from which I got no relief whatever, I was persuaded to try your Cuticura Remedies, and the result was as follows: After three days I noticed a decided change for the better, and at the end of two morths? was completely cured. My flosh was purified, and the bone (which had been exposed for over a year) got sound. The flesh began to grow, and today, and for nearly two years past, my leg is as well as ever it was, sound in every respect, and not a sign of the disease to be seen.

S. G. AHERN, Dubols, Dodge Co., Ga.

Skin Disease 17 Years I have been troubled with a skin and scalp disease for seventeen years. My head at times was one running fore, and my body was covered with them as large as a half dollar. I tried a great many remedies without effect until I used the Cutteura Remedies, and am thankful to state that after two months of their use I am entirely cured. I feel it my duty to you and the public to state the above case; L. R. McDOWELL, Jamesburg, N. J.

Another Marvelous Cure The Cutioura. Cutioura Resolvent, and Cuticura Soap have brought about a marvellous cure in the case of a skin disease on my little son eight years old. I have tried almost all remedies and also the most eminent doctors, all alike falling, except the wonderful Cuticura Remedies.

The appraisers of the insurance companies, after carefully examining the stock of clothing, concluded that the same was not so badly damaged as claimed by the assured clothing mannfacturers; and, failing to agree as to the actual loss, were forced to take the stock, turn is into money, and the goods must be sold at once in order to make final settlement. All goods are appraised at fifty cents on the dollar, and this is all we want for them. The great fire sale will enable the people of this city and vicinity to secure their clothing for almost nothing. Men's fine evening suits $6.95, worth $14; Men's heavy working suits $4.98, worth $11; this $4.98 heavy suit is well made and trimmed. If the purchaser is not satisfied he can return the suit in two weeks' time. A splendid suit of men's clothes $4.50. This suit is well made to match the latest style, and is really worth $10. Extra fine quality of men's suits, tailor made, $9.49. This is an elegant suit and worth $16. 1.700 boys' suits, all to match, for $3.75, worth $7.50. 265 boys' suits at $3.95. 600 pairs of pants, ranging from 98c to $7.

2,000 men's, youths' and boys' overcoats, in meltons, kerseys, chinohtilas, wide whales, worsteds, cassimeres, silk and satin lined, one-half value.

Examine our line and be convinced. Don't connect us with irrasponsible traveling sales, but give us our just deserts. Don't ery huming before you inspect our line of goods, as we can prove all our claims. Come see, and you will surely purchase.
